

Botterill Explorer

A neat and simple little trailer sailer which moves well and has good stability for its size. It can be launched in 150mm of water, and its standard features include a two berth lock-up cabin with a forward berth, good storage space, a self draining cockpit, built-in outboard well, and 1.9m bunks with cushions. The mainsail has slab reefing, and the genoa has a furler which is led to the cockpit. The 98kg aerofoil section centreplate is winch operated, within easy reach of the skipper. There is provision in the cabin for a portable toilet and a spirit stove, and all the deck space has non-skid finish.
